Duration: 13'

Versions:

Format: HD

According to a famous story, the stork places infants in the cabbage patch at night. In an effort to document this unusual behavior, we lay in wait for many long nights but, to tell the truth, we had no success. Maybe storks do not place infants there anymore out of revenge for the countless bullets shot at them once they crossed the Italian border. Times have changed now and many people are working to persuade the storks to return.
